Student Council

president M. L. Whitehead

The Student Co-operative Government of Reynolds High School includes all members of the Student Body working together for the welfare and improvement of our school. One of the main governing bodies of this organization is the Student Council. Its three major duties are:

1. to promote at all times a high sense of honor among the students
2. to try any student thought to be guilty of dishonest conduct
3. to punish and correct any student found guilty of violating the Student Honor Code

This year the Student Council activities included a chapel program explaining the Student Co-operative Government in our school, giving in each of the thirty-eight home rooms a panel discussion explaining what being on one's honor really means, maintaining the Lost and Found, and sending delegates to the Student Council Congress.

House of Representatives

The House of Representatives is made up of the Speaker, the Speaker Pro-tem, the Secretary and the Treasurer, and one member elected from each homeroom. It is each representative's duty to make necessary House announcements to his class. The House officers are elected by the student body as a whole in the spring each year.

The House has charge of such items as the appearance of the grounds and the school building and consideration for the welfare of others. It regulates the traffic on the stairs, and keeps the running and the noise in the halls to a minimum. The House co-operates with all other organizations in the school in promoting good school spirit.

The people who break the rules of the House of Representatives are brought before the House Court. This court is made up of the House officers and one person elected from each class.

Treasurer A. M. Kesler, speaker pro-tem E. J. Ingle, secretary M. Ingle, and two representatives.

Black and Gold

When the "make up" of the Black and Gold was first started it was the desire of the annual staff to give you a true representation of the year 1950. This book which you now have has grown through the efforts of Betty Byrd Barnette and Mary Lib Alsbaugh, co-editors.

Senior and junior pictures were assembled under the supervision of Ruth McIlroy, Elynor Fishel, and Anne Mercer Kesler, senior editors, and Diana Chatham and Kitty Kinnaid, junior editors. Action photographs were taken by Joseph Siceloff, and Stuart Reichman served as business manager.

Black and Gold is a member of the Southern Interscholastic Press Association. On October 7, 8, and 9, Betty Byrd Barnette and Mary Lib Alsbaugh attended the N. C. Scholastic Press Institute at Chapel Hill.

We hope as each page is turned the little things as well as the big, will be recalled to you, and that you have a permanent record of familiar places, personalities, and high spots of the school year.

Pine Whispers

Nowhere in Reynolds High School could be found a more active group this year than the staff of Pine Whispers, the school's newspaper. Often these journalists worked hours after the school's closing time in order to meet a deadline.

Molly Ingle served as Editor in-Chief of the paper and Barbara Harris was Managing Editor. Boys' and girls' sports were handled by Phin Horton and Joanne Butler respectively. Exchange editors Barbara Corbeels and Libba Carlyle were in charge of exchanging papers with ninety schools throughout the United States. Business manager Ann Brimley supervised the solicitation of ads. Others on the staff included Sandra Wright, circulation manager; Charles Winecoff and Ann Mercer Kesler, cartoonists; and Jerry Thomas, photographer. Faculty advisors were Mrs. Elizabeth Ritter and L. W. Crowell.

Pine Whispers is a member of the Southern Interscholastic Press Association. It also sent two delegates, Molly Ingle and Barbara Harris, to the N. C. Scholastic Press Institute in Chapel Hill on October 7, 8, 9.

National Honor Society

No one will ever be quite able to describe the feeling of emotion which belongs to the inductee of the National Honor Society on the morning that he is tapped. For him it is the crowning accomplishment of his high school career, the realization of the highest goal to which he has aspired. As he proceeds up the darkened aisle, he can hardly believe that it is he who has fulfilled the requirements for entrance into this organization.

The purpose of the society into which he has just been inducted is to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and to encourage the development of character in the pupils of Reynolds High School. These four points also constitute the necessary conditions for admittance.

At the regular meetings held from 8:10 until 8:50 on Wednesday morning are discussed the projects and plans taken up by the Honor Society. Officers for 49-50 were Edith Tesch, president; Anne M.

Kesler, vice-president; Mary Lib Alsbaugh, secretary; John Peddycord, treasurer; and Betty Lou Dobbins, devotional chairman. Miss Fave Martin served as sponsor.

The two main projects undertaken by the Honor Society this year were College Day and Vocational Guidance Week. College Day was held on October 15 and delegates from thirty-seven colleges were present during the day. Informal interviews and discussions were held each period. The purpose of the project was to acquaint seniors with the various colleges and to aid them in their selection. Vocational Guidance Week gave an opportunity to students to attend talks by prominent people on many different occupations and professions.

The National Honor Society provides for any student of Reynolds an opportunity to attain the highest achievement of his four years of high school. It is a challenge open to everyone.

Debating Club

Debating primarily builds, develops, and strengthens the character of people who participate actively in it. Naturally we want to win our debates, but winning debates is not our main objective. Our main objectives are learning to think clearly and rapidly, developing honesty and sincerity, learning to see the other side of any question, and training students to speak before an audience. If we attain these goals, we have had a successful debating season, regardless of how many debates we win or lose, and in this way we can also perpetuate the ideals of high character leadership, and initiative that symbolizes the purpose of our school.

This year the Debating Club and the candidates for the various debating teams are under the able leadership of Mrs. Evelyn Garrison, who teaches English and public speaking. The Debating Club, which meets every Thursday morning, elected its officers early last fall. The group elected as president, Wilfred Winstead; as vice-president, Charles Rodenbough, as secretary, Georganne Joyner; and as treasurer, John Peddycord.

Afternoon sessions were held for students who were striving for a position on one of the several teams. The afternoon periods began shortly after the opening of school and have been spent entirely in research, study, and debates on the national query Resolved: That the President of the United States Should Be Elected by the Direct Vote of the People. The junior varsity and the class teams give experience and training to debaters who are just beginning and at the same time provide competition for the varsity debaters.

Varsity Debating Team

Seated: Greta Garrison and Wilfred Winstead
 Standing: Charles Rodenbough and John Peddycord

The real test for the varsity debaters, both affirmative and negative, will come when they debate in the tri-city triangle with High Point and Greensboro. The teams winning in this preliminary contest will go to Chapel Hill to compete with winners from other districts for the Aycock Memorial Cup and the North Carolina state debating championship.

It is the sincere hope and desire of all the debaters to bring Reynolds High School its first debating championship in many years.

CLUB

College Club

The College Club is for Senior girls only and is exactly what its name implies. The purpose of the club is to prepare girls for college life and to help them in their decisions as to which colleges they would like to attend. At the first of the year, the meetings are confined to observing accepted rules in grooming and preparations for clothing, immediate personal needs, and miscellaneous necessities.

In trying to acquaint ourselves with the various types of colleges, we had speakers from different colleges, including Hollins, Randolph-Macon, W. C. U. N. C., Salem, and Duke University. About once a month a business meeting or a recreational meeting was held instead of a strictly college program. Just before the Christmas holidays, the club members used the Thursday morning club period for caroling to other clubs.

A very impressive devotional program was given by the College Club in chapel on February 17, with every member of the club participating. Elissa Hutson told a beautiful story illustrated at intervals by the singing chorus consisting of the club members. This program helped to continue the annual tradition of the College Club devotional program.

Another traditional event in which the College Club not only took part, but sponsored, was the Open House at the gymnasium after graduation. Guests were received and refreshments were served to the graduates, their families, their dates, and the Reynolds faculty.

Leading the College Club in the planning of these activities were Christine Jones, president, Martha Joyce, vice-president, Mary Jo Rierson, secretary, Joanna Doggett, treasurer, and Linda Thompson, program chairman. All of these, ably assisted by their sponsor, Miss Janie Weaver, contributed much to the success of the Club this year.

French Club

Le Circle Francais was organized to promote better understanding of France and the French people. For the past three years the chief project of the club has been the care of Madeline "Poucette" Poncet, a fifteen year old French girl. The club members send boxes of food and clothing to "Poucette" and her family and correspond with them.

A high point in the activities of the club was the French Emphasis Week held in 1949 which the club sponsored. The club put posters on all the bulletin boards, had an exhibit of articles from the Merci Train, and presented a chapel program. The club played host to the North Carolina Chapter of American Association for Teachers of French of which the sponsor, Mrs. Fearrington, is president this year.

It is a point of honor with the club to compete in French contests. In 1948 a Reynolds student placed fourth in the first year division of the state contest. In addition to this, a medal is offered to the most outstanding French pupil within the school.

Another project enthusiastically undertaken by the group is the bulletin board work. Last year a member of the club made a bulletin board for the third floor stair tower. This space has been used for the display of material on France, the French people, and their customs.

The club has received news of the organization of a National Honor Society for students of French, and hopes to organize a charter chapter. If this goes through, membership in this society will be an aim of each pupil, equalled only by their goal of a better understanding of their colleagues across the sea.

Key Club

Our Key Club is one of the most outstanding and the only international service organization in our school. Under most capable leadership it has done much to promote an overall good spirit in all phases of our school life. Since its inauguration three years ago the Key Club has undertaken many worthwhile projects in the school and community.

Officers for this past year were G. C. Davis, president, George Crone, vice president, Brevard Hoover, treasurer, Glenn Johnson, corresponding secretary, and Charlie Kammerer, recording secretary. Mr. Fred Bauer, football and baseball coach, acted as the reins of sponsor of the club this year.

During the football season the Key Club did much to create interest among the students in the feats of the team. At every game members of the club sold programs for the school. Also the Key Clubbers sponsored a meeting week.

Each Christmas the Key Club makes the season most festive with gay decorations around the school. After much work an arch with "Merry Christmas" brightly illuminated was placed over the entrance to the school. Also lighted trees were placed at conspicuous spots over the school grounds to add to the beauty of the school.

The most important work of the club this year was the convention of North and South Carolina Key Clubs February 24, 25. The convention began with a luncheon and business meeting, which were highlighted with election of officers and addresses by prominent persons from all parts of the two states.

Our Key Club is one of the school's greatest prides. Their co-operative and notable work has done much to further a commendable reputation for Reynolds High School. Their service has been of an extremely worthwhile nature and has been given entirely without self-interest.

The work accomplished in the printshop is done by the cooperative efforts of the students of all four years. The more specialized work is done by the more advanced students while the first year students have to be content to do their part by taking care of most of the folding duties of the Pine Whispers and other folding duties. All students are called upon to help with the binding of the yearbook. Instruction in the beginning class follows a definite pattern. In the second year the students are still learning by definite and necessary steps. In the third and fourth years instruction is a repetition of preceding years plus a beginning specialization. Instruction is given as the student is ready.

This year the linotype operators were Don James, Charles Chapple, Roger Holder, and Jack White. The cylinder press work was done by Jack Renigar, John Sprinkle, Hassell Wall, Raymond Caudle, Jack Conrad and Joe Griffin.

Doing make-up work and operating the job presses were Monroe Smith, John Reavis, Sheril Harbin, Doug Crater, Wayne Adkins, Randall Shelton, Ray Smith, Ed King, Billy Hill, and Richard Hart.

First year students were Buddy Ayers, Gene Bowles, Don Collins, Roger De Hart, Harold Futrell, Jimmy Nichols, and Lawrence Wainer.

In addition to the annual, twelve issues of the Pine Whispers, Hanes Hi Rada, and Gray Light were set up and printed. Various school forms, tickets, and programs were printed during the year. Programs were printed for the eighth grade and senior graduations, music, and football games. Posters and other jobs were also printed.

Our shop has been improved to a large extent this year. The two most important were the installation of fluorescent lights and a much needed new linotype. Both have added to the morale, instruction, and workmanship of the students.

Senior Service Club

Among the most recently formed and most active clubs at Reynolds is the Senior Service Club. A product of the minds of some of last year's graduating class. It is made up entirely of senior boys. Candidates for membership in this club must be leaders in their class, not only in scholastic ability but also in extracurricular activities; and as the club is a closed society, they must meet with the approval of a majority of the old members before being inducted.

The organization the S. S. C. differs somewhat from that of other clubs of its type in that rather than a president they have a coordinator who works with the secretary and treasurer.

Rapidly acquiring the reputation of being one of the outstanding clubs in a school like ours is not easily done, but the S. S. C. sold itself to both students and faculty members with amazing ease. Among its best remembered activities of the last year are the dances, the chapel program on the Confederacy, and the continuous boosting of the school spirit.

Coming back even stronger this past year, the S. S. C. elected 'Frog' Roberts as coordinator, and Charles Rodenbough and Will Alexander as the secretary and treasurer respectively.

The student section was roped off at the stadium; a black demon had been erected of canvas for the team to run through; all this and more has been backed by the S. S. C., and school spirit ran higher than it has in years. The school will never forget the parade and the bonfire for the Greensboro game.

The S. S. C. deserves a great deal of credit for all it has done toward making ours one of the best schools in the state.

Library Staff

A. Pepper, C. Southard,
B. Corhee, H. Wal-
D. Hauser

The library staff, a volunteer working organization of our school, is composed of twenty-seven members. These students give one period of their time each day to keep up with the work of the library.

The officers of the staff for the year are: President, W. H. Hauser, Vice-president, Audrey Pepper; Secretary, Kitty Kinnaird, Treasurer, Barbara Gosselin, Social chairman, Julianne Graves, Program chairman, Betty Byrd Barnette; Art and Publicity chairman, Carolyn Smitherman.

The library work is divided into three main departments—circulation, reference, and reserve.

The circulation department has charge of the circulation desk, checking in books, checking out books, carding and shelving them, taking care of the overdues and fines, and checking circulation of some oversized magazines.

The reserve department jobs are checking in and stamping newspapers, magazines, pamphlets for circulation, and filing. The student workers check in and out the material put on reserve by the various faculty members.

The reference department takes care of the material and attendance of the reference room. In this room, history references are used as well as science, biology and general reference work.

The art group takes care of library publicity with posters and displays of outstanding personalities and books.

The staff members rotate in their work each six weeks in order to gain experience in all fields of work.

The members of the staff are also members of the North Carolina High School Library Association, a state organization for the encouragement of better libraries. This association was organized by the school library division of the North Carolina Library Association in Winston-Salem in 1947. Frank Driscoll, a former Reynolds student, was the first president. Betty McCorkle is the state secretary for 1949-50.

The staff also participates in the Northwestern District Educational meeting. The high school library staff members are a part of the library division of this educational section. Audrey Pepper was the district chairman for the 1949 session. Betty Harvey and Jackie Clay were delegates from this school. Betty Harvey was elected district treasurer.

This year has been a very pleasant and successful one for the whole staff, and to this success we give credit to Miss Caldwell and Mrs. Hoyle, our librarians and faithful advisors.

SENIOR HI-Y

The Senior Hi-Y of Reynolds High School consists of thirty-two boys who were elected to membership in this National "Y" organization. Officers for this year are Robert Patten, president, Charles Winecoff, secretary.

They have participated in many varied activities this year, one of which was a clean up campaign on February 24 of this year based on the motto of the club, "Clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship, and clean living."

Another of the activities of the senior club was the basketball league in which the seniors took an active part. They will be long remembered for their prowess on the hardwood of the "Y" gym.

Much of the success of the senior Hi-Y can be attributed to their sponsor, Whit East. Whit's untiring efforts with the young boys at the "Y" gave a great incentive to the members of the club to live up to the standards of the Hi-Y.

FOOTBALL

The 1949 Reynolds High football team, under the second year of coaching by John Tandy, met with an unusually good year as they obtained a third place berth in the Western AA conference

It looked as if the Demons were headed for a mediocre if not a poor season as they lost to Gray 14-12, defeated Hanes, and then bowed to Burlington and Asheville with scores of 9-6 and 7-6 respectively

Encouraged by a new school spirit, the team seemed to catch fire as they defeated their age-old rival, Greensboro, and Reynolds went on to demolish Gastonia, Charlotte, and High Point—an accomplishment which has been quite rare in the past decade. A non-conference game with Durham, who ended the season as state champs, landed the Demons their worst defeat, 14-6, and a heartbreaking score of 7-6 with Salisbury kept RJR from a Western conference playoff with Burlington

Two new coaches were added to the staff this year. Tom Kain and Fred Bauer, both graduates of the University of North Carolina, joined Mr. Tandy as end and line coaches

Many honors were heaped upon some of the members of the squad. Willson Alexander, left guard, won the distinction of All-State while Sonny Ridenhour was given honorable mention on every list, including the All-American high school team. Both were invited to play in the Shrine Bowl, but they declined the offer

BASKETBALL

While the Reynolds basketball squad of '50 could not be compared with last years AA conference champions, it showed signs of true ability on some occasions. The season was one of ups and downs for Coach Tom Beach's Demons, who faced some of the toughest competition which the conference has had in several years. After showing fine spirit and fight throughout a rugged schedule, the boys threw everything they had into the last few games and downed several of the best teams in the state

The Key Club, a boys' service club sponsored by Kiwanis International, was under the supervision of Kiwanians Dr. H. L. Keel and Mr. R. A. Lambertson. The thirteen member group began the school year with the direction of Mr. Jack Fletcher and the following officers: president, Glenn Pettyjohn, vice-president, Bruce Tucker; recording secretary, J. T. Marsh; corresponding secretary, Fred Pettyjohn, and treasurer, J. S. Burns.

Soon after the club was reorganized, seven new members were inducted: Johnny Coleman, Ray Whitely, W. D. Fesperman, Graham Rights, Tony Miller, Thomas Humphrey, and Calvin Hartman.

One of the most successful small projects sponsored by the club was the making of "keep off the grass" signs. In order to attract attention witty sayings, such as "Danger, New Blades," were used to inform Grayites of the newly seeded grass. Taking an active interest in the city-wide school bond issue the Key Clubbers made posters for the uptown district and distributed circulars in the Southside and Waughtown section. In the annual talent show given November 22, Sam Deese won first prize for a trombone solo.

With the coming of the second semester, Jack Holt became president and Jack Flowers, treasurer. Other officers were re-elected. The first project under the new leadership was a musical program, February 22, in which Ann Crockett, Janet Hemrick, Pat Sink, Joyce Hodge, Sam Deese, and Don Wishon took part.

At the district convention held in Winston-Salem, February 24-25, the Gray club was in charge of the registration and the dance committees. Eleven members attended the convention. The Duke University Glee Club concert, which was under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club, netted the Gray group approximately $150 for the sale of tickets.

Glenn Pettyjohn, Charles Newsome and Bill Easter display posters on school bond campaign supported by the Key Club. The election was held I believe the Gray Key Club played a major part in the success of the election. It was held Mrs. H. B. Clodfelter, member of the School Board.

The Junior High Football Team brought its second straight State Championship to Gray this year. Their record was ten wins and one loss as compared to nine wins and no losses last year.

Led by co-captain Jerry Huff, the Graypups collected a total of 280 points against 49 for their opponents. Huff personally accounted for 212 of the Junior High's points.

Coach Jack Fletcher's crew opened the season with an impressive 35-0 win over Guilford. They followed that by romping over High Point, 27-0, and Reynolds 33-0, and squeaking by Hanes, 13-12. They whipped Thomasville and High Point before tasting defeat at the hands of Burlington, 18-7. Scoring a total of 120 points in the second round, they downed Reynolds 21-0, Hanes, 47-6; Thomasville, 32-0; and High Point, 20-6.

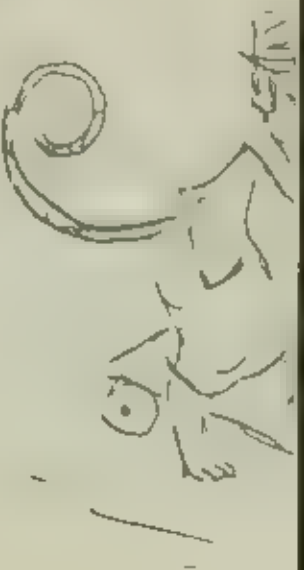

Their one defeat came as they were riding on a 15 game win streak. Burlington, whom Gray defeated last year for the state title, was the team that turned the trick.

C. B. McClain was first-string quarterback until injured in the Thomasville game. His position was taken by Sammy Beck. Regulars in the backfield were Jerry Huff, Thomas Spry, Kenneth Calloway, Hugh McKnight, and Tom Dooley. Other backs were Mike Joyce, Donald Walser, LeRoy Bovender, Terry Brown, Johnny Turner, and Larry Reavis.

Bill Jones and Jack Wood were starters at the ends, and Doug Newsome and Charleton Clements at the tackle positions. Edgar Alford, Paul Wilson, Ernest Yokley, and L. J. Hutchins alternated as guards. Glenn Teague held down the center position. Other linemen were Billy Knight, Don Beverly, Claude Williams, Ronnie Hutchins, James Calloway, Paul Wilson, Ralph Siewers, and Billy Rule.

Co-captains were Jerry Huff and C. B. McClain, while Eddie Crutchfield and Eddie Owens were managers. Coach Jack Fletcher has piloted the squad since it was organized last year. He said, "I am well pleased with the showing of the team this year and the record it has made in these two seasons." Under him they have won 19 out of 29 games.

This year the Dramatics Department under the direction of Mrs. Stella Price has been very active in presenting many interesting programs for the enjoyment and benefit of the student body.

The first production given in the fall was "A Queen Saves Her People," which was based on the story of Queen Esther.

On October 31 for the Halloween Carnival members of the club presented three short skits entitled "A Melerdramer," "Sofapilso," and "The King and the Cook."

For the Christmas program on December 8, a play, "Shepherd of Bethlehem," was presented. This was based on happenings the night of the birth of Christ.

"Life With Bobby Sox," an enjoyable account of the trouble one teen-age girl can cause was given on January 27.

One of the most beautiful programs of the year was that which commemorated all the events connected with Easter. This was a combination of Bible reading, slides and music in which all members of the club and the Glee Club participated.

Members of the department have participated in the following contest: I Speak for Democracy, World Peace, Americanism, American Legion Oratorical Contest, Debate, Kiwanis and Rotary Declamation and Recitation Contest.

REYNOLDS PROPHECY OF THE CLASS OF '50

Time— 1950 looking to 1975

Setting— Radar's Radio and TV Shop

George (Loose-connection) Crone and Frog (Cross wire) Roberts are working on Miss Nancy Coggin's TV set. Miss Coggin, head of the local PTA, is their star customer.

Frog: George, if we can get this double A tube to fit the antenna plug, systanical, with an A. C. tripled, we can save 30 bucks and the set will work just as well— I think.

George: Ah— what a college education can do for you.

Frog: Hold this.

George: Great, Guy Scott! I dropped the margin finder into the Clepto-division cycle.

(Buzz-buzz)

Frog: What's that on the screen?

George: Why, it's Clay Goodson in a baseball uniform. And he's playing for the 1975 pennant.

Frog: How do you know it's '75?

George: It's painted on the center-field fence.

Frog: Look, he's playing for Duke.

George: Yea, DUKE POWER COMPANY!

Frog: Where's the umpire? Oh, there he is, standing behind Goodson's bat.

George: It's that retired big leaguer— Sonny "Stuck" Beall!

Frog: This machine must be flooey, hand me the wire-cutters.

(Clip)

George: Now the screen's revolving. There it's straightening up. It looks like we're on Brooklyn Bridge looking down on New York.

Frog: Look, there's Playboy Tommy Frazier and his bodyguard, Johnny "Rough-house" Algood. They're going into play-writer Henry Lowet's new stage sensation "30 Days In a Life Raft Down Peter's Creek."

George: Who's selling tickets? I've seen her before.

Frog: Why, it's Molly Bowers: yea, and look who's ushering!

George: William McElveen and Archie Glenn.

Frog: Look on down Broadway. Who's that cop with bumpers on his sides?

George: It's big Glenn Garrison, the Fearless Fosdick of the New York Police. What's he selling those passing motorists?

Frog: It says "benefit tickets to the annual policemen's wrestling bouts."

George: Wonder who will fight, does it say?

Frog: Yea, Burt "Twinkle Toes" Merriam vs. Larry "Two Ton" Talbert.

George: Looks like we would get some sound with this future scoopdo-pagger. Hand me that brace and bit.

Frog: Say, the scene's dividing. Ah, now it's coming together again. What's that?

George: Looks like Fourth Street used to look. I believe we're back in Winston-Salem.

Frog: Say, there's a new skyscraper next to the Reynolds Building. Can you read that plaque at the bottom?

George: It says: "Built in honor of Richard Teague who meritoriously gave his services as a human guinea pig for the experiments of Dr. Bill Matthews, noted peanut brittle authority."

Frog: Who's that out on a ledge washing windows?

George: It's O. T. Williams. I always knew he would get up in the world. What's happening to the screen? All I see is blurred print. Well, I'll be... we're focused on a newspaper co-edited by Betty Byrd Barnette and "Big Dave" Clinard, and with sketches by Anne Mercer Kesler.

Frog: There's an article by the famous woman reporter "Brenda" Ingie. She and Ernie Shore have just written "Hunting Big Game on the Yadkin River."

George: Yea, with pictures by the flicker and flash boys, Jerry Thomas and Joe Siceloff.

Frog: Look at this "who's who" column. Arlen Harris is a very well-to-do Southern planter.

George: He is?

Frog: Yea, he's an undertaker.

George: Another advertisement—Sam Stuart is in the jawbreaking business.

Frog: Is he a prizefighter?

George: Nope, he's a big businessman, head of "Jake's Bubble Gum Factories, Inc."

Frog: Emily Butner is his vice-president in charge of foreign affairs. I see that Red Smith, former All American, is a big man now.

George: What makes you say that?

Frog: He has twenty-thousand people under him, he's a watchman in a cemetery.

George: What's that by-line?

Frog: "True Confessions" or "If I had My Life to Live Over Again—I Wouldn't", by Diane Davis, Sandra Wright, and Mary Lou Whiteheart.

George: Look, Ed Pullen has finally graduated from Harvard Law School after 35 years of intense study. He received a black sheepskin.

Frog: And Edith Tesch says quote, "I seem to have the theater in my veins"—I wish she had blood.

George: John Peddycord "the Gregory Peck of '75" says he never worries about transportation from each engagement; the audience usually rides him out of town.

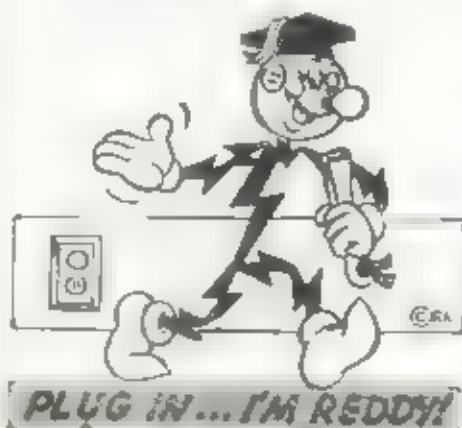

Frog: He also says he got his big break into stardom when Lassie retired.

George: I see Phin Horton's got a new stable.

Frog: I wonder how his horse is get-

George: His horse! Why that nag is so conceited that just before they saddle him for a race, he puts on Max Factor No. 26— so he will look good in the photo finish

Frog: Max Factor No. 26; why that's the kind of make-up used by the local debutantes Betty Ruth Smith and Mary Jo Rierson

George: Look at that advertisement, isn't that Gus Ballus and Harold Carter?

Frog: Yea, which one has the Toni? Audrey Pepper caught some comments while dining at El Rocco Connelly's. She overheard the former Miss Jackie Clay talking to Pat Dize. Jackie says she would not trade her husband for any ten men. And Pat replied, "I wouldn't trade my ten men for any husband"

George: Oops!! There goes the paper at last

Frog: What's the billboard say?

George: Vote for the Anti-Ardmore Party. Honest Bob Perkins for city manager, "Square-deal" Jackson for mayor, and for judge of "traffic court" — Bill "Scratch" Avera

Frog: Junior Davis has taken over Eddie Arnold's place in the Checkerboard Hit Parade sponsored by Hauser's Farm Machinery. Look at that upersonic tractor with glass installed by David Pfaff

George: That sign says something about tap dancing doesn't it?

Frog: It says "Rodenbough's Royal Review" coming soon to Don Reid's Chinese Theater

George: Yes, Charles is really tapping his way to stardom

Frog: Look, there's Charles Winecoff selling Winecoff Whooping Cough Pills to Tommy Wall

George: Looks like we got hooked up to a fashion show, there's Lois Clark, Pat Boesser, and Betty McCorkle, modeling new trends in women's apparel by noted designer Bill Paige, known as "De Podge."

Frog: There's Francis La Porte running the elevator. She's surely had a life of ups and downs.

George: What's that Shirley Johnson's modeling?

Frog: An argyle evening gown created by Nancy O' Neil

George: There's Margaret Daye, head of the women's sports department

Frog: Who's that modeling those girls' tennis outfits?

George: Why, it's Elynor Fisher, Betty Robinson, and Joe Wheeling

Frog: Where is this thing going now?

George: That sign says Kernersville City Limits.

Frog: It looks as if this town has outgrown Winston-Salem. Look at the music hall

George: Well, look who's in the orchestra pit! George McCracken, the distinguished conductor

Frog: Look at the all girl orchestra

George: There's the outstanding star of the Harlem Opera Association, Connie Reynolds. She sings a duet with the Hayseed Caruso, Bill Rollins.

Frog: And Charlie Kammerer, playing the trombone, plays basketball for the Harlem Globetrotters in off season.

George: Look in the audience— Bob Patten noted author and critic, who has just finished his latest book, "My Experience with Sleeping Sickness", published by the A. B. C. Publishing Co., T. Apperson, B. Bennett, and J. Cook

Frog: Who's that in the seventeenth row?

George: Why, that's Bobby Tucker, president of the International Bobbie Burns Poetry Club

Frog: Yes, and there's Virginia Bell, originator of the new Bongolian Bop music

George: I believe we're moving again— my, my! What's this Ann Bailey's Home for Ageing Female Ukulele Players.

George: Hello, Daugherty. Oh, I forgot he can't hear me. What's he doing anyway?

Frog: He's selling "Freeman's Jive Talk" dictionary for all those cats with all the latest slang. There's Doug Grimes buying one.

George: Great garden seeds! Here comes a parade: Kernersville certainly has grown. Why, I remember when this town was so small that they had to enlarge the streets to paint the white line down the middle Frog: Why, what in the world is that hanging on the first float? It's 'Buster' Brown's jet-propelled swim trunks!

George: He was the only man in the world to swim the channel on his back, using the Ethiopian Blind Man's stroke, while carrying a Christine "Clear Freeze" Jones refrigerator.

Frog: He was met on the English side by the eminent explorer and physicist, Dr. Ralph "Square root" Dietrick, who is making a world wide search to find his long lost common denominator. He is assisted by Bernard Herman, noted kangaroo pouch collector. Say, isn't that Jackie and Jacqueline Jones

George: Certainly— they were voted Miss and Mr America of 1975. Jack for his knack at interior decorating and baby care, and Jacqueline for her all-around ability on the athletic field.

Frog: On the next float I see Mary Neil Wagner advertising "Schrader Blond Hair Shampoo."

Telephone rings,
 George: Hello, Radar's Radio & TV Shop; we regulate and ream all recti-procal request. Is radiator to—
 What— you can't do that— no— yes
 —yes. (hang up) We disrupted all communications within a five hundred mile radius for the past hour. We got-ta scram!

Frog: I knew this machine would get us in trouble, but we ought to make millions seeing into the future.

George: There's a six state alarm out for us; quit dreaming of the impossible and let's go!

REYNOLDS HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '50

The class of the half century will soon don the tasseled mortarboards and flowing gowns of honored graduates. It's hard to realize that our pilgrimage of knowledge is drawing to a close. 1945 may sound like ancient history but in reality the things we did that year seem as if they might have happened yesterday.

Although as beginning freshman we stood in awe, wonderment, and insecurity, we learned with the passing months that we had a part and a function in the work of Reynolds High School. As class officers for our first year we chose Ernie Shore, pres.;
 Johnny Morris, v. pres.; George Crone, sec.; and Molly Bowers, treas.

Our first year was greatly consumed in noticing the actions of the upper classmen with admiration and respect.
 Time marched on with its usual relentlessness and we found ourselves in the "awkward age"; we were sophomores.
 Although we were still green, and not yet dry behind the ears, we were at least more important. We permanently occupied downstairs sections now when we went to chapel. School life became more natural for us. Many of our class mates became interested in club membership while others took a try at sports. Willson Alexander was starting a career in football that was later to grow into an A1-State berth. Will was playing his first year of baseball along with "Big Joe" Wheeling, and Clay Goodson. Of course Gus Baer had a position in the backfield on the football starting line-up. New boys on the tennis team were Dick Sapp, Norman Falbaum and Jerry Katzin. This was the year that Bill Avera started making the rounds at the local golf courses.
 A large number of the boys in our class went out for track that year of '48:
 Roger Jackson, Richard Moser and George McCracken. Seen on the girls' softball team for the first time were Emily Butner and Margaret Daye.
 Girls' tennis was well represented by our class; Christine Jones, Sara Plint,
 Jackie Clay, Barbara Harris, Carolyn Southerman took to the courts for their first time.

Along with all the other extra-curricular activities, basketball and soccer drew the talent of a great many of our girl sports enthusiasts.

In 1947 the Key Club was organized and although only a few of our number became members that year, the club soon took in 15 of our class mates. The girls of our class had formed an active Y-Teen club which sponsored the first Sadie Hawkins Day Dance.

The summer of '48 went by quickly for most of our number, and soon we were treading the corridors of R J R. once again. We got right down to work by choosing our officers: Robert Patten became our president with Will Alexander, vice-president; Emily Butner, secretary; and Henry Connelly, treasurer. Mary Lou Whiteheart was secretary of the Student Council and O. T. Williams became House secretary. Emily Butner, Bobby Middleton, and G. C. Davis were our representatives on the Student Council.

Our days at R. J. R. had produced many fine musicians. Bill Rollins used his talented tonsils not only in public speaking but also joined with Bob Pfaff in giving us virtual Carusoes. Connie Reynolds, Martha Bouldin, Barbara Walters, and Elizabeth Anglin, to name a few, gave us a variety of female talent in the musical line. The band drew many of our number into its ranks. Arlen Harris, George McCracken, David Pfaff, Doug Grimes, Charlie Kammerer and Wesley Thompson were among the marching musicians.

Our class made many contributions to the talent filled dramatic department. George Crone, Edith Tesb, Barbara Painter, Jim Hardie, Burt Merriam, Sara Plint and Elissa Hutson made numerous contributions to Reynolds stage successes.

We also had many successful public speakers. Frances Alfred, Sara Plint, Mary Ruth Linville, Jim Hardie, Frog Roberts and Henry Lowet were all successful orators. Glenn Garrison, John Peddycord and Charles Rodenbough were varsity debaters for two years.

Our class also contained members who possessed talents other than vocal. We had our touch of genius and our touch of Venus. Twenty-four of our classmates were taken into the National Honor Society. This year also saw the organization of two service clubs. Several of the senior boys started the Senior Service Club, dedicated, as the name implies, to service for the school. This group was eventually to include 29 of our classmates. The girls organized the Resegi.

The Masque and Gavel and Quill and Scroll inducted others of our classmates for specific abilities. Elissa Hutson, Edith Tesch, Glenn Garrison, John Peddycord, and Charles Rodenbough for speech and dramatic abilities, and Mary Lib Alspaugh, Betty Byrd Barnette, Barbara Harns, Molly Ingle, Anne Mercer Kesler, John Peddycord, David Clinard, Ruth McIlroy, Elynor Fishel, Jo Anne Butler for journalistic feats.

Pat Boesser, Emily Butner, Christine Jones, Betty Ruth Smith, June Williams, Betty McCorkle, Sandra Wright, Anne Mercer Kesler, Jackie Clay, and Mary Jo Rierson were honored by being chosen senior marshals of the class of 1949.

The big event of the season for our junior class was the annual Junior-Senior For the first time in a number of years the dance was held at the Robert E. Lee Hotel. From the dance floor we were swept into the year's final exams from which we required three months of solid rest.

The beach, drive-ins, the Peacock, and Florida were just what the doctor ordered. But came September 5th and we were back at Reynolds. A noticeable change had come over our class, we were finally seniors. It didn't take us long to consider ourselves important and virtually irreplaceable. We almost got the other students to believe this, but somehow the teachers were never aware of our superiority. Following Mr. Joyner's welcoming speech, the first of our official functions began. The election of Willson Alexander, James Smith, Christine Jones, and O. T. Williams as our class officers. These official spokesmen presided over the Armistice and Thanksgiving programs. Miss Weaver, was senior sponsor for the second year and by December her everlasting patience had already been tried many times.

The beginning of the football season brought a drive for more and better school spirit sponsored by several of the leading clubs. The idea was richly rewarded by one of the best football seasons in recent years. Christine Jones, John Peddycord, Pat Boesser, and June Williams were senior cheerleaders who helped urge the team on. Mary Jo Rierson and Billie Sharp as drum majorettes helped add color to the half-time performances of the band.

Our Christmas vacation was vigorously seasoned with dances, open houses and "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer." But as our parents ushered in the second half of the century with horns, confetti, whistles, and brass bands, we began the second half of the school year with numerous packs of notebook paper and a well sharpened pencil. We struggled through term papers, "Macbeth," and the autobiographies, but found needed relaxation in basketball games, Award Day, the Senior Picnic, and Kid's Day.

Now that all is said and done, we finish the last chapter of our class history. The time is at hand for each of us to go his way, and wherever we may go or what ever we may do I'm sure that long after this class history has gathered dust upon the shelf with all the other histories, our thoughts will return many times to the happy hours spent here in old R. J. R. Our sincere thanks to all of you from the class of 1950 for what you have done to make our stay an unforgettable one.

GRAY PROPHECY

OF THE CLASS OF '50

Visiting in the year 1970 the greatest circus in the United States, the Burton and Batty, I was surprised to find that my old classmate, Bobby Taylor, was the manager; and Ann Cook and Carolyn Pope were heads of the office force.

After paying my money to the ticket seller, Peggy Bowles, I proceeded through the gate, getting my feet tangled up in a newspaper. Leaning over to throw it away, I saw it was a copy of The Moon, of which Betty Carpenter was editor and Junior Temple, city editor. Glaring from the paper were the headlines reading, "Betty Lou Rose Packs House with Role in Madame Butterfinger." The opera, given at the Pfaff-McDaniel Opera House, donated to New York City by Joan Pfaff and Sue McDaniel, had Mary Lee Thornton, Pat Seawell, Jack Holt, and Dorothy Cox in the cast. "One of the large factors in the success of this production," also stated the paper, "is the exquisite scenery, designed by the master artist, Bruce Tucker, and his assistants, Bill Shoaf and Charles Newsome. Also aiding in the success is the orchestra, including Sam Deese, Lindsay Hayes, Kenneth Hall, J. T. Hauser, and Bill McKinney, and directed by Bill Griffin. The costumes are made by Jean Yates, dress designer."

Sprightly stepping along to the music of the Calliope, played by Betty Reeves, I decided to look around the grounds for a while. A movement next to the big top caught my eye, and I hurried to get in time to see Anna Cardwell scramble under the tent. What a laugh I had when I discovered that she, being employed by the circus, was merely chasing a mischievous youngster getting in the "free way."

On the way back to the main tent I met Pat Petree, feature editor of Live, a national magazine. She was dictating notes to her co-worker, Shirley Templeton, who was writing the notes at 200 words per minute on a special typewriter designed by Wallace Griffin. As the notes were finished they were given to the magazine editor, Greta Wilson, over the Roger Willard Telephone System.

Finally getting back to the big top I entered and had hardly sat down, when a vendor sold me some peanuts prepared by the Bill Smith Popcorn and Peanut Company, which got its products originally from the Milton Pappas Farms. I also bought one of the new Carter Colas. My, how delicious! And no wonder, since the formula had been made by Emily Carter and the drink bottled at the Voigt Kimball Bottling Company.

Across the tent was a section marked off by brilliant red, white, and blue ribbons. How proud I was to attend the same performance as the United States President Albert Walser, Supreme Court Chief Justice Glenn Pettyjohn, and Speaker of the House of Representatives Kenneth Grigg! Immediately behind the President sat Steve Brunt, Secret Service officer, guarding the Chief Executive

With a blast of trumpets the show started. Barbara Ruff, ringmistress, rode out on her handsome steed and announced the first act, a fifty-foot tall human pyramid. As the seemingly dozens of bodies went higher and higher, a number of familiar faces appeared in the midst. Among them were Tony Norton, John Stewart, O. H. Walker, Jack Harris, Elton Worrell, and Jimmy Transou. As they tumbled to the ground, a large group of the "most beautiful girls in the world" rode out on white horses. In the lead were Joan Robinson, Rebekah Robertson, Patsy Pfaff, and Anne Foy

The next act, typical of all circuses, was that of the clowns. Out into the ring pranced twenty or thirty of the jolly fellows, headed by Calvin Hartman. Their faces had been painted by the famous make-up artists, Barbara Baynes and Bobbie Lee Eagleson; and their colorful suits had been fashioned by the William Bolin and J. C. Chatman Weaving Company, to which the cotton had gone from the Edie Criner and James Story Plantations. Many of the clowns' jokes had been written by Juanita Bruce, the nation's best-known comedienne. Her colleague was Hugh Tickle, whose newest book, Tickle's Ticklers, had become a smash hit

High up in the tent Patty Brooks, Jo Ann Dooley, and Barbara Pappas, the Tight Rope Trio, thrilled the audience as they danced around on one thin wire. Suddenly amidst screams of horror from the spectators, one of the girls fell from her lofty perch into a tank of water below. Dr. Barbara Austin, eminent physician, appeared in an ambulance from the Pardue and Welborn Hospital, financed by millionaires Martha Pardue and Fred Welborn. Dr. Austin rescued the girl, only to find that the stunt was all a part of the show!

Next on the agenda were the animals. The wild ones, which had been caught by the world-known hunters, Jack Rickard and Melvin Stewart, had been trained by Buck Adams. To the accompaniment of Joyce Hodge and Gloria Hartle, famed pianists, two seals played a horn duet while their trainer, Paul Cude, fed them fish. Behind them in the same ring Tommy Brown was directing white spitz dogs on a tight wire.

As this act ended, in came Allen Calloway and Sue Hunter, followed by a herd of elephants. Seating themselves upon the elephants' trunks, they were tossed high into the air from beast to beast until the tent was shaking from applause

After the main show, in order to get one last look at the other attractions, I walked once more over the grounds. By one of the cages containing a huge lion a group of people were standing, talking. Imagine my surprise to find that they were Joan Cornatzer and Nancy McClain, noted pilots who had flown many of the animals to America; Bill Cartner, designer of special cargo planes; and Mildred Brown and Sandra Moseley, African explorers. How happy I was to get to talk with them after twenty years of separation!

A few minutes later I arrived at the gate just in time to see more of the notables going out: Irene Bovender and Edith Harris, makers of the new "Carplane," which doubles as a car and a plane; Lucy Coggins, who had been nicknamed "Barbank II," and Carleen Sparks and Ernestine Utt, owners of the Sparkutt Coffee Company, which maintained coffee groves in South America, operated by Jo Ann Watkins and Peggy Cook.

Remembering just at that moment that a circus day would not be complete without a visit to the "hot dog" stand, I turned back into the throng. It was with great pleasure that I gave my order to Shirley Logan and Ruth Burton Foster, owners of the stand, which got its food from the Jack Salmons Wholesale Dealers. While awaiting my snack, I glanced over a newspaper lying on the counter. What a variety of events was to take place the following night! At Jones Stadium, erected by wealthy Ramona Walker and Richard Byrd in honor of the world's greatest football player, Russell Jones; Jackie Craven, Albert Hege, Ed Shamel, Wallace Weisner, and Joe Cole were battling to retain the national championship for the East in the famous States' Bowl game.

At the Stout and Ketner Theater, owned by Archie Stout and Doris Ketner, Tusk Farce, co-starring Jean Southerland and Ewell Hinsdale, produced by Fred Pettyjohn, and directed by Betty Martin, was currently playing. Across town, however, the Long Drive In, run by Marie Long, was showing Janet Jones and her supporting cast, Martha Hutchinson, Willie Poindexter, and Jack Davis, in Clark Taylor's immortal novel, The Wentlet.

Hearing a strange voice speak, I looked up and saw at one end of the counter a Brendle Television Set, manufactured by Wilma Brendle and Company. The program that was on was the newest thing in television, This Is Your Song. The production, originated by Marianne Binkley, took the favorite song of a listener and dramatized the story of the selection up to the present day. The melody for that afternoon, sent in by socialite Emma Jean Williard, was Clair de Lunatic, by Theresa Lemmons. Having been adapted for television by Eleanor Rights, the program started Broadway actors Nancy Slater and Tommy Clodfelter

When the play was interrupted for the commercial, the face of Jenny Snyder appeared on the screen. She gave the advertisement for the sponsor, the Sprinkle Pendergrass Typewriter Company, owned by Peggy Sprinkle and Verneath Pendergrass. In her talk Jenny said that S.-P. Typewriters were the best that could be bought and were used exclusively for the instruction at Williard and Myers University, endowed by Mary Williard and Nancy Myers, Texas oil well queens. The announcer also reported that the typing instructor of the university, Josephine Sink, highly praised the machine.

Suddenly my Wilkins Alarm Clock, made by the Doris Wilkins Corporation, clanged its bell off. I sleepily sat up as the radio commentator, Nancy McGee, cheerfully said, "Time to get up!"

What a dream! I suddenly realized I'd better get up and go to that final examination, or I shouldn't be graduating with that famous class of 1950!

GRAY HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '50

In September, 1946, we, an excited, curious, jubilant class of freshmen, with definite ideas of making a worthy record, entered the portals of James A. Gray High School.

The first semester of that year was spent getting acquainted with all our teachers and studies. Albert Walser was the first to "spread his wings" by being elected assistant secretary of the Student Organization. Pat Petree received the honor of being the first freshman ever to appear on Junior Town Meeting of the Air. The journalism department chose Barbara Ruff and Bill Easter "On the Beam."

In our sophomore year Albert Walser was selected treasurer of the student body; and Juanita Bruce, president of the Gray Gnomes. Dramateers inducted into the Masque and Gavel were Eleanor Rights, Lucy Coggins, and Pat Petree. Barbara Baynes was awarded the Kiwanis Cup for the best declamation. Eleanor Rights, president of the Junior Y-Teens, attended the National Y-Teen Convention in Atlanta, Georgia. For his outstanding baseball ability Albert Walser was chosen Player of the Week. Russell Jones, high basketball scorer for the city, had 302 points to his credit. Key Club inductees were Albert Walser, Joe Cole, Bill Easter, Jack Holt, and Fred Welborn. Albert was also selected to be a member of the Hi-Y. In journalism Bill Easter was art editor; and Albert Walser, boys' sports editor. The Girls' Athletic Association was organized this year, with Rebekah Robertson, treasurer.

We were really "chopping in high cotton" our junior year. The combined junior classes elected Glenn Pettyjohn, president; Juanita Bruce, secretary; Junior Temple, vice-president; and Fred Welborn, treasurer.

The National Honor Society inducted into the group Marianne Binkley, Juanita Bruce, Betty Carpenter, Bill Easter, Kenneth Grigg, Sue McDaniel, Pat Petree, Eleanor Rights, Rebekah Robertson, Albert Walser, Betty Lou Rose, and Junior Temple. At a city-wide society meeting Albert Walser was elected president.

Approved by the National Quill and Scroll were Juanita Bruce, Betty Carpenter, Bill Easter, and Albert Walser. Bill was editor-in-chief of the Blue and Gold and art editor for the entire annual. State awards for outstanding journalistic achievement were given to Junior Temple for the best news story, and Albert Walser for the best sports column.

The affirmative debating team composed of Pat Petree and Kenneth Grigg attained second place in the district finals. Kenneth won the Clara Tiller Cup for being the best debater. Masque and Gavel, honorary dramatic society, initiated Barbara Baynes, Barbara Austin, Pat Seawell, and Kenneth Grigg. Top honor in the Declamation Contest went to Betty Lou Rose. The Best Actress Award was presented to Pat Seawell for her role as Jo in Little Women. Pat also won the World Peace and "What Democracy Means" contests. Kenneth Grigg was winner of the Rotary Cup for the best declamation.

Representing the class on the cheerleading squad were Rebekah Robertson and Joan Robinson. Joan was also chosen to reign as Piedmont Bowl Queen.

Boys inducted into the Key Club were Bruce Tucker, Glenn Pettyjohn, Fred Pettyjohn, and Charles Newsome. At the North Carolina and South Carolina joint meeting Albert Walser was selected Lieutenant Governor for the two states. The Hi-Y tapped Kenneth Grigg, Jack Holt, Ewell Hinsdale, Fred Welborn, "Goat" Newsome, Junior Temple, Bruce Tucker, and Fred Pettyjohn.

At last we had attained our goal of becoming seniors. Taking our reserved seats in assembly for the first time, we had a mixed feeling of pride, nervous indigestion, and happiness.

Senior class leaders were president, Bruce Tucker; vice-president, Glenn Pettyjohn; secretary, Nancy Slater; and treasurer, "Goat" Newsome. The student body selected Albert Walser, president; Rebekah Robertson, secretary; Joan Robinson, corresponding secretary; and Fred Pettyjohn, treasurer. Taking a lead in the journalism department, Betty Carpenter was selected editor-in-chief of the Gray Light; Bill Easter, editor-in-chief of the Blue and Gold; and Junior Temple, managing editor of the paper.

First-string cheerleaders were Kenneth Grigg, Nancy Slater, Rebekah Robertson, Barbara Austin, Janet Jones, Bobbie Eagleson, and Joan Robinson. Our football team, with Joe Cole, Glenn Pettyjohn, and Russell Jones, co-captains, was selected to play in the Dairy Bowl. Jack Craven received an invitation to play in the Optimist Bowl, and Russell Jones was chosen to be on the Shrine Bowl Team. The Gray-Teen Council elected Juanita Bruce, president; "Goat" Newsome, vice-president; Rebekah Robertson, secretary; and Glenn Pettyjohn, treasurer.

Kenneth Grigg, president, headed the National Honor Society. Other officers were vice-president, Marianne Binkley; secretary, Sue McDaniel; and treasurer, Junior Temple. The society inducted Barbara Baynes, Jean Yates, Gloria Hartle, Joan Pfaff, Carolyn Pope, Joan Cornatzer, Ann Cook, Barbara Austin, Emily Carter, Mary Wilhard, Theresa Lemmons, and Nancy McGee.

The City Junior Red Cross Chapter selected Marianne Binkley president. Calvin Hartman was inducted into the Key Club.

The senior class elected the following superlatives: best-all-round, Bobbie Eagleson, Albert Walser; most popular, Juanita Bruce, Albert Walser; most intellectual, Betty Lou Rose, Bill Easter; most athletic, Emily Carter, Russell Jones; best looking, Bruce Tucker, Patsy Pfaff, best sport, Willie Poindexter, Charles Newsome; biggest flirt, Ed Shamel, Nancy Myers; most likely to succeed, Eleanor Rights, Bill Easter; wittiest, Juanita Bruce, Calvin Hartman.

Quill and Scroll officers were Bill Easter, president; Albert Walser, vice-president; Juanita Bruce, secretary; Betty Carpenter, treasurer. The society inducted Pat Petree, Kenneth Grigg, Emily Carter, Barbara Austin, Junior Temple, and Marianne Binkley.

Our record here is finished, but our experiences, mishaps, and happiness will always be cherished in our memories. The ideals, facts, and sound judgment which we have gained through our years at Gray will guide us in the years to come.

GRAY LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF THE CLASS OF '50

We, the members of the 1950 senior class of James A. Gray High School realizing the proximity of our departure from this institution, do assemble and discreetly divide our coveted possessions in this, our Last Will and Testament.

ARTICLE I

Section I. For his undying interest in each student as an individual, we extend heartfelt thanks to our beloved principal and comrade, Mr. J. A. Woodward.

Section II. To the members of the faculty, who have helped mold us for the role for which we aspire in life we express our sincere thanks.

Section III. To our pals, the coaches who engineered our first Reynolds conquest on the gridiron, we declare our appreciation for drilling us on the finer points of being bigger winners and better losers.

Section IV. Though we should like to live forever in the realms of grammar and literature, we reluctantly give our cherished seats in 215, both before and after school, to the junior class.

ARTICLE II

Section I. William Bolin leaves his seat in Miss Meinung's physics class to J. S. Burns, with a list of instructions on how to solve the "toughies."

Section II. Though "Goat" Newsome isn't the largest backfield man in Gray's football history, he bequeaths his methods of butting a line to Mike Joyce.

Section III. I. H. Baity and Barbara Baynes have decided to leave their desirable, modest traits to Jack D. Taylor and Janet Hemrick.

Section IV. Nancy Slater, Rebekah Robertson, and Willie Poindexter leave their organization as the "Three Musketeers" to June Willard, Jane Tuttle, and Phyllis McClain.

Section V. To Jimmy Birke, Barbara Austin, and Eleanor Rights leave their expressive oratorical gifts.

Section VI. Our high stepping majorette, Barbara Ruff, gives her bewitching talents to "Cotton" Hurst with this advice: "Keep moving, for it gets mighty cold sometimes."

Section VII. Buck Adams, our Will O' the Wisp guard on the basketball squad, bequeaths his elusive ball handling methods to Ralph Sneed.

Section VIII. Because Bill Shoaf is an ardent admirer of Duke University's athletic teams, he leaves his luncheon-debating tactics to Elwood Speas, another Blue Devil fan.

Section IX. Mike Cude may find use for the instructions on How to Keep Up with One's Belongings, bequeathed him by Pat Seawell.

Section X. Bill Easter, Junior Temple, and Kenneth Grigg, possessing a super ior intellect, unselfishly extend their knowledge of how to learn to Jean Derryberry, J. T. Marsh, and Janice Whitney

Section XI. Bruce Tucker and Jack Holt will their Rudolph Valentino traits to Jack Flowers

Section XII. Jack Harris, alias the wit, has published a book of the best anecdotes in his repertoire and desires that it be left for Sam Johnson to use at any convenient occasion

Section XIII. Nancy Myers and Hugh Tickle leave their blond hair, without the peroxide bottles, to Janice Harrison.

Section XIV. Russell Jones reluctantly gives Alston Jones that right-end position on the football squad in order to keep the Jones tradition intact Appointing our friends, Mrs. Carrie Mae Allgood, Miss Mary Miller Knox, and Miss Ruth Meinung as executrixes of this, our Last Will and Testament, we affix, in witness whereof, our seal, on this fifth day of June, nineteen hundred and fifty

HANES PROPHECY

OF THE CLASS OF '50

Date: 1960

Having been out of school for ten long years, I decided to visit some of my teachers and reminisce. I learned from some friends where Miss Dungan and Miss Chappell were living, and I decided to visit them

I rang the door bell and after a short wait the butler, who I was suprised to see was Dick Hoover, asked me to come in and showed me to the den where I found Miss Chappell listening intently to the radio. Miss Dungan told me that she just could not get her away from that radio. But Miss Chappell explained that she just couldn't miss her favorite radio program "QUIT THE RECORD;" she assured us that Mark (you guessed it) Tuttle was going to call her tonight because she knew the mystery melody. After some time I persuaded her to take me into her confidence, and she told me that the name of the mystery tune was "BOOGIE WOOGIE CUE STICK" by Joe Morgan and Dick Hart. It was really some tune, too.

Miss Dungan hadn't changed at all. The first thing she did was to show me a new English grammar book by Buddy Tuttle, who was professor of English at Harvard. Remembering that Buddy had been an excellent athlete while in school, I asked whether or not he was still playing ball. Miss Chappell,

The value of the telephone isn't just the calls you make. Sometimes the calls you receive are even more important. You'd miss a lot if the telephone wasn't there.

Just on calls you make, the telephone's a big bargain in convenience, security, success and good times. When you add the calls you receive, it's an even bigger value.

who was absorbed in Snyder's Sport Magazine. Nancy Snyder, editor, answered that she didn't know about Buddy but that there was a big write-up about Elaine Mabe, who was the first girl to swim the English Channel with one hand tied behind her, and that Charlie Bean defeated Bob Manuel for the yo-yo championship of the world at Madison Square Garden last week. Some other outstanding athletes of the day I learned were Jim Stevenson, Conrad West, and Harvey Lunsford.

As we sat talking over old times and eating some delicious chocolate candy, which I was told was manufactured by the CARROLL and DARNELL SWEETSTUFF CO., INC., the nation's leading candy manufacturers, there came a knock at the door, and since Richard (the butler) had gone on an errand, Miss Chappell went running to see who was there. As she passed me I noticed a peculiar smell.

Miss Dungan told me that Miss Chappell was trying out a new perfume called "Fatal Scent," put out by Cottee and Flynn, Inc. She seemed to think that it was rather overpowering, and I was inclined to agree. After a while Miss Chappell returned to the room and took her seat without a word. Of course we were curious about who was at the door. Upon our questioning we were told that it was only Crawford Meeks, selling one of his new inventions called the "Household Atom Smasher," designed to harness atomic power in every home so that you could have the dishes washed, floor swept, beds made, and and the washing and ironing all finished, while you went to the movies.

Speaking of movies, Miss Dungan was anxious to tell us about the picture showing at the new modern theater that Bob Robertson had opened in Forest Hills. She said that, overwhelmed by all the bright lights and colorful signs, she walked up to Joan Knott, the ticket girl, and asked for a ticket. But was told that all tickets were sold except one on the last row in the 12th balcony, and that she could take the elevator to the right. As she stepped into the elevator, Bill Reavis said, "What floor please?" She said that she had hardly got the words out before she was in the 12th balcony, and Ronnie Burton ushered her to her seat.

Miss Chappell and I found all this quite interesting, but asked her to please get to the point and tell us about the movie, so she did. We learned that it was a thrilling drama, that Melba Beck played the part of a gun moll and killed Autumn Murphy and Judy Tucker, two rich society girls, who were making a play for her gangster boy friend, Jack Shaver. But Eugene (Sherlock) Colvert and his assistant, Jim Marion, soon caught up with her and sent both her and her gangster boy friend to the chair. After hearing this I decided that I just must see it .

No one said anything for about thirty seconds, so to break the silence I mentioned that my fingernails were looking awful lately. Miss Chappell asked me why I didn't try some of the new Jarvis-Ashburn nail polish. She said that it came in two colors, black and brown. I decided to get black to match my shoes, which I mentioned were looking pretty bad, too. I asked Miss Dungan what kind of shoe she wore. She said that hers were the new "Harding Hoffies," made by Walter Harding. They must be good shoes. She said that they made her corns feel like they weren't even there.

Just then our visit was interrupted by another knock at the door. Miss Chappell said that it was only Marvin Coone, the postman, and went quietly out of the room to get the mail. As she left the room Miss Dungan turned the radio on. She said that it was almost time for John H. Isminger, the United States weather forecaster. While turning the dial, trying to find the right station we heard a familiar voice and paused to listen, only to learn that it was one of those soap operas called "Nancy Faces Life" starring Nancy Haymore, who was a lawyer, and was defense attorney for her husband, Ken Byerly, who was charged with assault with a deadly weapon. He was caught "Shooting Pool." Just as this was getting interesting, I heard another familiar voice. Grady Shelton, the announcer broke in: "Are your nerves on edge? Can't you sleep at night? Do you forget to wake up in the morning?" If so, try (Pat) Carter's Little Quiver Pills, and you will be a new man.

Looking around I noticed Miss Chappell coming into the room looking disgusted at what I thought was a letter. I asked her what the trouble was, and she said that it was a bill from the B. Elledge and M. Rawlinson Construction Co. for the chicken coop they had built last week. It seems that all the chickens, that they had bought from Tommy Rierson's Poultry Farm, had died from eating too much Super-Dooper Chicken Feed, put out by Fleenor and Barnes Live Stock Supplies Co.

She threw the bill aside and opened another envelope and pulled out two tickets to a minstrel, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Frank Reid, who was president, had sent the tickets to my former teachers and had sent a copy of the program along with them. We were surprised to see so many of our prominent citizens taking part in this minstrel. We learned that the "Big Show" was produced and directed by Buford Scott and Jack Collins, the chorus was under the direction of Mary Ann Sprinkle, the orchestra was under the direction of Hassell Mayberry, and the stage manager was Tom Weatherman. The end men were Ed Ross, Doug Hunt, Allen Brown, and Bill Young. Jim Duggins was the master of ceremonies. There was a hill-billy quartet composed of Helen Fansler, Mary Ann Cain, Peggy Adams, and Colleen Quate. Betty Bond, Joan Fields, and Pat Collier were tap dancing, while Tom Nicholson and Bobby Lee furnished the music by blowing a comb and playing a wash board. There was a torch song by Lottie Moon Holcomb, and Martha Kennedy was doing acrobats. It sounded like a good ndn-strel, and Miss Dungan asked me to see if I could get tickets and go with them to see it. I said I would try.

It was getting late. Doris Messick, the maid, brought Miss Chappell her orange juice, and I decided that I had better be getting on home. I asked Miss Chappell if she could tell me the phone number of "The Newsome Cab Co." I thought I would take a cab home. But neither of them would hear of it. They insisted that I let Bob Johnson, their chauffeur, drive me home. I gladly consented.

HANES HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF '50

In the fall of 1945 Hanes High was the scene of much confusion. We sub-freshmen were new in this high school world and amazed at its difference from grammar school.

As sub-freshmen, we were caught by the swinging doors and laughed at by the upper classmen, especially the seniors. Most of us received summon slips for going through the wrong doors and for playing on the grass. We finally, however, became accustomed to all this.

During this year our class began to take an active part in school life. Some became members of different organizations, such as the Junior Council, Library Pages, Red Pencil Survivors, and Band.

After a summer vacation we were glad to be back in school as freshmen to renew friendships made the year before.

Nancy Haymore, Betty Bond, Betsy Flynn, Sue Barnes, and many others were in the "Hanes Janes." The Y-Teens also picked a few of our classmates: Helen Fansler, Millie Jarvis, Betty Bond, and Autumn Murphy. The Religious Drama Club took Carolyn Cotter, Patsy Carroll, Mary Ann Fleenor, and Norma Lee Rideout. Several boys were attracted to the field of sports, and we hoped that they would be outstanding

At the end of the year, the honor of being the most outstanding freshman was bestowed upon Betsy Flynn

With another year of experience past we felt sure we were getting into the thick of things, and we could hardly wait for another year

As sophomores we felt we were more important to the school. This year the Ushers Club drafted Joe Morgan and Nelson Gladstone. Nancy Haymore was named on the cheerleader squad. Conrad West and Ronnie Burton were elected into the Hi-Y

By the end of the year, 1948, we were well represented in practically all the school activities

Coming back after a shorter-than-ever summer, every junior was confident that he had an important place to fill in high school

The National Honor Society inducted Ronnie Burton, June Ashburn, and Bill Reavis. The junior class had a large representation in the Dramatics Club and Chorus. The Hi-Y inducted new members, as did the Ushers' Club. During this year the Key Club was organized. Some of the members were Ronnie Burton, Joe Widdifield, Joe Morgan, Jack Shaver, and Conrad West. To the publication staff were added some of our classmates: June Ashburn, Helen Fansler, Patsy Carroll, Bob Robertson, and Hassell Mayberry.

We were represented in the Excelsior Club by Mary Ann Fleenor, Martha Kennedy, and Melba Beck. The Debating Club also included Melba Beck, Nancy Haymore, and Dick Hart

The Ushers' Club, which was becoming more active than ever, elected Tom Nicholson, John Isminger, Bill Reavis, Jack Shaver, and Joe Widdifield. The H-Club, which was formed by last year's juniors and seniors, and which had also become very active during the two short years of work had as members Arlis Denny, Buddy Tuttle, Don Caudle, and Jim Stevenson

Pat Collier was elected a cheerleader

To climax the year, the annual Junior-Senior Dance was held in the school gymnasium. The class officers, June Ashburn, president; Jim Duggins, vice-president; Milie Jarvis, secretary; and Mark Tuttle, treasurer; helped greatly with this project

In the spring, the annuals were being autographed, and thoughts of the following year when we, too, would be writing our farewells as students of Hanes High School. We were the first junior class to have individual pictures in the annual

And at last... Seniors! We had often thought about the front seats in chapel. Now we, the seniors of Hanes High

Not exactly a candid shot but we admit

We were among the sweets at

Our officers for the senior class were Crawford Meeks, president; Jim Stevenson, vice-president; June Ashburn, secretary, and John Isiminger, treasurer. We also elected superlatives. They were: Nancy Haymore and Tom Weatherman, wittiest; Norma Rideout and Crawford Meeks, most likely to succeed; Nancy Kerr Snyder and Don Caudle, most athletic; June Ashburn and Bill Reavis, most intellectual; Millie Jarvis and Alan Brown, best looking; Pat Collier and Buddy Tuttle, most popular; Mary Ann Sprinkle and Conrad West, best all around; and Martha Kennedy and Harvey Lunsford, biggest flirts.

The class day officers were Norma Lee Rideout, prophet; Buddy Tuttle, testator; Jack Shaver, historian; and June Ashburn, poet.

Betsy Flynn was elected chief cheerleader.

The H-Club inducted new members including Tom Weatherman, Walter Harding, J. C. Disher, Tom Nicholson, and Dick Hoover.

Melba Beck represented us in Girls' State and Joe Widdifield represented us in Boys' State.

Newcomers Mark Tuttle, Mary Ann Cain, and Bobby Lee joined us during the junior year, and Doris Messick, and Buford Scott in the senior year.

Some new members of the Excelsior Club were Hassell Mayberry, June Ashburn, Jack Shaver, Jim Stevenson, and Martha Kennedy. Hassell Mayberry was elected president and June Ashburn, treasurer.

Crawford Meeks was selected chief monitor.

Dick Hoover made all state on the Journal-Sentinel's 1950 football team. Jim Stevenson made all-state in basketball in 1949.

The Quill and Scroll inducted Bob Robertson, June Ashburn, and Patsy Carroll.

The editor of the annual was Patsy Carroll and of the paper, June Ashburn.

The National Honor Society inducted Millie Jarvis. The officers chosen were June Ashburn, president; Ronnie Burton, vice-president; Bill Reavis, treasurer; and Melba Beck, secretary.

Millie Jarvis was our entry for the Piedmont Bowl Queen.

Our student government officers were: Joe Widdifield, mayor; Hassell Mayberry, judge; Sue Barnes, stenographer; and June Ashburn, clerk.

These five years at Hanes have been happy ones, and as we draw near graduation, we begin to realize how much we shall miss Dear Ol' Hanes. We, the graduating students, thank the principal and teachers of Hanes for their understanding and guidance during the five years we have been with them.
